CSBG Recovery Act Local Plan

Section VI - General Plans

For each question in this section, provide a comprehensive narrative of what plans you have made to date.

A) Provide a description of Recovery Act projects for purposes of creating and sustaining economic growth and employment opportunities. Include a description of targeted individuals and families; services and activities; and how the services and activities are tailored to the specific needs of the community.

Each Tribe will be given the opportunity to propose activities to be funded with Recovery Act funds under the principles of "Self Determination" from the list of eligible choices provided. Tribal governments will be asked to emphasize employment-related services and activities that create and sustain economic growth. In addition, the NCIDC and the existing Indian sub-contractor network of off-reservation service providers will implement projects, based on the need in each respective area, that target eligible and low-income individuals, as well as communities identified as "pockets of poverty", with specific services and employment opportunities or support. This includes services to reduce poverty, revitalize low-income communities, and assist low-income families become self-sufficient through services and activities addressing employment, education, housing, nutrition, and emergency services to combat the central causes of poverty.

B) Provide a description of the service delivery system for Recovery Act projects for purposes of providing a wide range of innovative services and activities. Include a description of the geographical area served.

The American Indian Community Service Block Grant Network is a statewide network of Tribal governments and organizations as well as off-reservation non-profit service agencies providing services throughout California. Each Tribe has a defined reservation, rancheria, or other aboriginal territory under their jurisdiction. The off-reservation American Indian population is served by a network of 501(c)(3) non-profit corporations with local Indian governance, that are assigned one or more counties as part of their network designation by the NCIDC. In addition, the NCIDC also operates direct services on a state-wide basis. The geographical area served will include Indian individuals and communities throughout the State of California. Services will be delivered by a combination of direct services through the NCIDC, by Tribes serving their own tribal communities, and by the Indian Sub-Contractor network maintained by the NCIDC.

C) Describe how your agency will use Recovery Act funds to meet the short-term and long-term economic and employment needs of individuals, families and communities.

Each Tribe assigned to the NCIDC by the CSD will be offered an opportunity to submit an eligible and locally determined project for ARRA funding. Some Tribes may elect to have the NCIDC, or one of the NCIDC Indian Network sub-contractors operate a program on their behalf, either through an active statement to that effect, or simply by not submitting a proposal by the deadline established by the NCIDC. In addition, off reservation projects are under development by the NCIDC that will allow for the establishment of work crews of eligible Indian workers to implement activities such as emergency and disaster mitigation, community wellness and education, fire prevention and infrastructure maintenance on Tribal and Public lands, as well as energy-related projects in energy conservation, weatherization, and other "Green-collar Job" areas. Job training, case management, and long-term placement will be important components of each project.

D) Provide a description of how linkages will be developed to fill identified gaps in services. through the provision of information, referrals, case management and follow up consultations.

NCIDC will use the network linkages developed with our off-reservation Native American service delivery sub-contractors and the tribes assigned by CSBG allocation to the NCIDC ARRA contract, to identify local needs and gaps in service. This information will facilitate delivery of ARRA CSBG services. This will be achieved by maintaining a separate ARRA contracting system, and establishing Subcontracts and Tribal Memorandums of Agreement as necessary to effectively deliver CSBG services and activities to the low-income American Indian population residing within the state. Services will also be provided directly by the NCIDC. Linkages are maintained with all the Indian WIA 166 and LIHEAP providers in the state, as well as through the NCIDC Rapid Response program which works with both local and regional Workforce Investment Boards throughout the State. The NCIDC, Tribes and sub-contractors all have the capacity to provide case management and followup services, as well as referrals to partners providing additional resources.

E) Provide a description of how Recovery funds will be coordinated with other public and private resources, to avoid duplication and/or supplanting.

The NCIDC American Indian CSBG Network does not receive sufficient funding to meet even the basic needs of the populations we serve. Due to the historical lack of resources, our network has worked and trained for decades to coordinate with all other public and private resources, and CSBG funding is always utilized as the funding source of last resort. The NCIDC also maintains a contracting methodology that prohibits contractors and other partners from using CSBG funds to supplant discontinued state or local funding, and all of these requirements (avoid duplication, coordinate with other resources, and no supplanting of discontinued programs) is reinforced in all Training and Technical Assistance that is provided to our network.

F) Provide a description of how the funds will be used to support innovative community and neighborhood based initiatives related to the purposes of the Recovery Act, which promotes food, housing, health services and employment-related services and activities.

Food, housing, health services and employment-related services are core activities for Tribal Governments and Indian organizations within the American Indian CSBG Network. All reservations/rancherias in California are identified as "Pockets of Poverty", and these core emergency and development services are key. They allow the Indian clients and communities we serve to address community needs, facilitating maintaining and improving their self sufficiency in very depressed economies such as those on-reservation. These services will be especially important for smaller Tribes that lack sufficient other resources to meet the basic needs of the populations they serve.

CSBG Recovery Act Local Plan

G) Provide a description of the community-needs assessment (which may be coordinated with community-needs assessments conducted for other programs).

The NCIDC has consulted with our network members, including Tribes, Indian Non-profits, and community associations in the development of this local plan. A public hearing was held on March 9th allowing the public to provide direct feedback on the plan. The plan was posted on our Web site and in each of our public offices, to allow for further public input. We have also conducted a focus group, consisting of representatives from the organizations listed above, where we further discussed the needs of communities throughout our service area. All of this assessment and input is reflected in this local plan.

H) Provide a description of the service delivery system for benefit enrollment coordination activities for purposes of identifying and enrolling eligible individuals and families in Federal, State, and local benefit programs. Include a description of the geographical area served and a listing of sub-grantees provided the services and service areas.

The NCIDC maintains a system of network providers that have linkages with Federal, state and local benefit programs in order to coordinate services and identify individuals and families that are eligible for such programs. In many instances the Tribes and Indian organizations that receive CSBG resources through the NCIDC network are also the providers of these benefit programs; such as, tribal TANF, tribal general assistance programs, tribal and urban Indian health programs, commodity and community garden programs and other similar services. The geographical area served by the American Indian CSBG network is State wide. The subcontractors include all tribes assigned by CSD to the NCIDC CSBG State Set-Aside contract, as well as the off reservation network service providers.

J) Describe your education and outreach projects to advertise and market the Recovery Act services and outcomes.

The network maintained by the NCIDC does on-going outreach and education to insure that all organizations and individuals that might benefit from the services have the information required to apply and participate in projects and programs. This is accomplished through presentations at public meetings, brochures and flyers, web sites, meetings with Tribal Councils and other Indian organization governing boards, and, probably the most important method in Indian Country, "Word of Mouth". Reports on outcomes are presented each month as public meetings attended by representatives of Tribes, Indian Non-profits, and community associations, as well as to media and funding sources such as CSD.

Section VII - Energy Coordination

For each question in this section, provide a comprehensive narrative of what plans you have made to date.

A) Describe how your agency has/will establish a mutual referral service agreement with your local energy provider to ensure that clients receive services that support their progress towards achieving self-sufficiency.

The situation in Indian Country is somewhat different than it is for the rest of the California CAA network. The NCIDC is funded directly by the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) to provide LIHEAP services for 46 Tribes state-wide. Many other tribes in the State also operate LIHEAP services funded directly by HHS. As Federally funded LIHEAP providers, the NCIDC, and each Tribe operating LIHEAP, also coordinates their local efforts with their corresponding non-indian local LIHEAP providers. The energy assistance available to eligible clients will be available to the clients assisted under the ARRA, as determined by case management services of each local provider. The NCIDC network coordinates in each local area with the energy weatherization providers to assist with Indian Housing weathernization needs on-reservation.

B) Describe the activities your agency will conduct to actively coordinate with the local energy program in employment training and job placement of clients.

The NCIDC is currently working with northern California Workforce Investment Boards (WIBs), "green agencies", regional Conservation Corps, and organizations involved with community service learning opportunities, among others, to implement an Energy Jobs For Youth program. Discussions are underway with AmeriCorp to provide mentoring for the project. This project will create a work experience opportunity for youth and young adults in "green" energy related services, a industry that is projected to have excellent growth potential. The NCIDC is also currently in development of a state-wide weatherization job training and employment program, that will provide job training and placement opportunities to unemployed Indian clients in weatherization, HVAC, and related fields. This state-wide project is currently under development, and no partners or sub-contractors have yet been selected.

CSBG Recovery Act Local Plan

In this section, provide information on projects or activities that will be funded in part or totally by Recovery Act funds that will be carried out by a delegate agency or other service provider pursuant to a subcontract with Recovery Act funds. For each project or activity include the following: title, subcontractor name, cost, an estimate of the number of jobs created or retained, and a description of the project or activity.

The NCIDC American Indian CSBG Network consists of sub-contracting Tribes and Indian Organizations that have already been identified for inclusion in the network. The individual Tribal allocation list has not been provided by CSD, and CSD has indicated that it will not be available until the point of ARRA contract execution. Each entity receiving an allocation through the network will, using the principles of "Self Determination", determine which of the activities listed in this local plan best meet their individual community needs. In addition, the NCIDC and its sub-contracting network will be working with other entities that are not "sub-contractors" but rather "partners" (eg. US. Forest Service). NCIDC is currently unable to provide specific subcontractor projects/activities due to uncertainty of the funds to be allocated to the counties and reservations under the State set-aside contract. Once the specific allocations are provided and the Tribes and entities have provided their plans, we will update this local plan.
